

Untitled

by Sihle Majatladi

General metrics

824

characters

142

words

6

sentences

34 secreading
time1 min 5 secspeaking time

Score

This text scores better than 79% of all texts checked by Grammarly

Writing Issues

11

Issues left

Critical

11Advanced

Unique Words

Measures vocabulary diversity by calculating the percentage of words used only once in your document

65%unique words

Rare Words

Measures depth of vocabulary by identifying words that are not among the 5,000 most common English words.

33%rare words

Word Length

Measures average word length

4.7

characters per word

Sentence Length

Measures average sentence length

23.7

words per sentence

Untitled

A Job I do not want.

Today, I address a topic that often stirs conflicting emotions - the prospects of accepting a job we do not truly desire, a job I would never want, not in a million years. It's not about the difficulty of the work or the hours involved; it's about the mismatch between my passions and the nature of the job.

want to focus on a few occupations that are often seen as undesirable: hotel clerks grocery store cashiers These jobs are essential to our society. but they are often underpaid, undervalued, and under-appreciated. Workers in these industries are often forced to work long hours, deal with difficult customers and put up with stressful working conditions.

It is paramount that we seek roles that resonate with our core values, foster our well-being, and balance our professional & personal lives-